Pasture Topper Cools Down

To whom it may concern,

So glad this product is back on the market: I became a fan in the early 90's

I had a pasture topper (8-foot Superior) which after half an hours use in heavy conditions would have the gearboxes so hot I couldn't put my hands on them.

Already convinced about the engine treatment product I gave the gearbox treatment a whirl. Following treatment and for the years up until I sold that machine in 2007, those gearboxes under any conditions, never got so hot that I couldn't hold my hands on them. A hands-on example of friction reduction, you can draw your own conclusions on extended machinery life.

In my view, this is the cheapest and most effective warranty extender available.
